Health & Nutrition Exhibition & Conference is the premier event dedicated to innovation in feed, pharmaceuticals and animal health solutions.

Animal health and nutrition is the fastest developing sector at VIV Asia and to further support this industry segment, you are invited to join this three day exhibition dedicated to food ingredients, additives and animal health solution. Alongside the exhibition, exhibitors can take advantage of speaking opportunities and extended branding activities to increase awareness and build valuable relationships.

This year H&N is set to take place alongside VICTAM Asia, the event specialising in animal feed processing within Asia. This is the second co-location of the events and will increase the event's footprint making it a must attend event for key stakeholders operating in this essential sector of animal husbandry.

Exhibitors will benefit from high quality networking opportunities, knowledge-based conference sessions and meeting the key players that drive growth and development for the years to come.
